ALL-TIME BIBLE CLASSICS!

One of the things that most vividly developed my love for the Bible and its stories was a comic book version of the Bible. To be clear, it wasn't a word for word translation of the book with graphic depictions to go alongside—that sort of book would have to be multiple volumes, and I'm confident that the authors censored some of the stories we just went over in Judges! Instead, it depicted some of the Bible's greatest stories in a rendering that I had developed a love for as a preteen and helped me to appreciate more fully the stories that would come to define my life.

Maybe for you, those stories were brought to life on felt boards...or coloring sheets...or VBS videos. However they were, I'm grateful to the different varieties of ways that folks have been able to make the Bible come alive for children and teens. But as the years continue...maybe those exciting renditions of the stories have started to fade. Maybe you are newer to church and missed those stories as a child or teen. Maybe...you are in need of a refresh. THIS is the goal of our summer sermon series—All-time Bible Classics (ABCs)!

Over the course of the summer, we will be visiting different stories you may have learned as a kid and looking at them with adult eyes. Of course, we are going to incorporate ways to engage our kids and help them to appreciate the stories as well, but my hope is also to give you adults an opportunity to return to these stories that maybe we take for granted now. What truths do they still have to reveal to us? What lessons for the world we now occupy do they have to teach us? I'm excited for the summer together in this way and look forward to sharing with you!

On another note, last Sunday, we had our listening session for the Associate Pastor position in the early afternoon. We had a great turn out with a lot of meaningful questions asked and answered, and I'm excited to report back to the deacons to see what the next step will be. That said, I know some of you may not have been able to attend, so we decided in session to leave a bit more time for you to reach out to me with any questions you may still have. If you'd like to ask any questions of me, please reach out by email or phone by Sunday, June 21. At this point, we will end the listening period and move forward towards whatever the next step may be.

I'm grateful to each of you for the roles that you play in the life of our church and am very much looking forward to a summer full of discipleship and mission together. As always, it is my pleasure to serve as your pastor! -Josh
